PNM hosts annual Safety Day for employees

Customer and crew safety highlighted during interactive safety demonstrations

(Albuquerque, NM) – PNM hosted its annual Safety Day for employees on Thursday with a focus on providing safe and reliable power for its customers.

PNM Safety Day is an annual internal employee appreciation and recognition event, with guest speakers, training classes and live safety demonstrations. Safety is one of PNM's core values. That's because many PNM employees, including lineworkers, work in a hazardous environment every day to serve customers and ensure reliable service.

Without proper training, that can become dangerous or even deadly.

“Even though PNM Safety Day isn’t open to the public, the impacts of our employees taking part in this important event ripple through our whole community,” said PNM President and CEO Don Tarry. “By giving our employees the skills to work safely and empowering them with this knowledge, it allows us to better serve customers and keep them safe too.”

This year PNM featured more than 25 safety-related activities at the Albuquerque Convention Center and Civic Plaza, including live demonstrations, classes, awareness trainings, an employee appreciation raffle, and vendor fair.
