(Albuquerque, NM) – PNM reinforced its commitment to providing safe and reliable power to its customers at its annual Safety Day Today. The employees event featured training sessions and live safety demonstrations that highlight the importance of safety in everyday operations.

“PNM Safety Day impacts our employees and ripples through our community,” said Wes Gray, Vice President of Operations & Engineering for PNM. “When we equip our employees with the tools and confidence to work safely, we’re not only protecting them; we are also protecting our entire community. Every safe decision made in the field helps ensure reliable service and peace of mind for our customers.”

Safety is a core value at PNM. Many employees, including line crews, work in hazardous environments daily to ensure reliable service and a safe electrical system. Proper training is essential to prevent accidents and protect lives.

This year’s Safety Day included more than a dozen safety-related activities held at the Albuquerque Convention Center and Civic Plaza, offering hands-on learning and engagement for employees across the company.
